

JAMES 2:26, For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.

Faith is more than the belief in a truth. It is the courage to act on that truth despite the consequences. Beloved, if we have received a promise from the Lord we must do more than simply acknowledge the truth of it and then passively wait until somehow, some way God decides to make it happen. No, the Lord would have us to understand that we play a part in seeing the fulfillment of the promise. No one who knows that they are having a baby waits until the child arrives to prepare their house and the church is no different. If we are to believe for a revival to sweep through our city that will bring multitudes into the church then we must prepare the house for growth before it comes. If we believe God has called us to heal the sick then we must actually minister healing to those we encounter. The pattern in the word is clear. The Lord gives the promise and God's people act on the promise and see the miraculous of God released in and through their lives.
