

The Ryder Cup only happens every two years between the European and American Golfers. It is a team effort and the Europeans have won every match except one since 1998. The US was up by 10-3 during the second day, only needing to get to 14 ½ by Sunday to win. Since there seemed to be no doubt that the USA would win I kind of pulled for Europe to get some points so they would not be defeated totally! But what happened today was horrible. Ian Poulter of the Europeans caught on fire on Saturday and exploded, causing his teammates to soar, and today Europe once again won the Ryder Cup, beating the USA 14 ½ to 13 ½.

Now my husband on the other hand, wanted the Europeans to be defeated by the largest margin possible, he wanted them to be slaughtered. That is definitely the difference between women and men. Women will want to win, but not to destroy, men will want to destroy. This is what we are to do to the devil and the works of darkness, they must be exposed and destroyed, and no mercy should be shown.

On another note, I noticed that until Ian Poulter caught on fire, the Europeans were just playing the game; they did not have any emotional stake in it. But once those eyes were aflame and looking at others, the European team caught on fire. We should be the same with the presence of God. When we catch on fire, and look at others, they will catch on fire and the flames of the Holy Spirit will flood!
